

Jim Ogle

March 10 at 3:05 PM · 🌐

Greetings everyone, this is Colin Ogle, Jim's son, posting on his account. I wanted to provide an update on my Dad.

For the last year and a half, he's been battling two types of cancer. He has fought incredibly hard since his initial diagnosis in 2020. However, on Sunday, he moved to in-home hospice care. He is surrounded by family as we focus on keeping him comfortable.

Community is a staple for his my Dad has lived his life. We know the positive impact he had made on so many others and the impact all of you have made on him.

Any thoughts or prayers you'd like to share with him, please message this account directly. We will share them with Jim as we receive. I know he would appreciate hearing from you.

Thank you in advance for the impact you've had on my Dad.

We will try to share updates on his status as we can.

437

388 Comments 15 Shares