

Neal Meiselman

Our presenter, Neal Meiselman, has studied and performed the liturgy and music of the High Holidays. Neal has been a shaliach tzibbur (prayer leader) for High Holidays for 50 years – since he was a teenager! After co-leading a contemporary family service at a local Conservative congregation throughout his college and law school years, Neal co-led services at George Washington University Hillel for several years. For the last 36 years, Neal served as shaliach tzibbur of the “social hall” service at Ohr Kodesh Congregation (OKC), a Conservative-affiliated community in Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Neal is the brother of Kol Shalom congregant Sharon Kolstad.
