American History Club

Next Meeting: Monday, February 7, 10:00 AM

Home Plate Café

Don't know much about history? If you don't, you might be surprised. If you do, you might just find out more. The American History Club meets at 10.00 a.m. the first Monday of each month in the party room at the Home Plate Café. If you're hungry come early for breakfast. Anyone with an interest in the fascinating past of our country is welcome to attend.

The state of Arkansas has an interesting topography with a little bit of everything. Tony Gunn will trace that geology and explain just what features are important and why they are located where they are in the area. Join us February 7 to do a little armchair exploration.
